SOMETHING ABOUT

"BARGAINS IN GLASSES."

There is no such thing as "bargains" in eye glasses. Glasses which are worth $4 for this week only are not worth any more the next week or any other week, in fact they are never worth the money asked for, or better still are too dear at any price. Your eyes need a thorough examination by a reliable Eye Specialist before you get your glasses, and this examination is worth some money. To get the right glasses is worth everything—wearing wrong glasses means killing your eyesight. Your eyes are your life and no bargain-counter article.

One charge covers the entire cost of examination, glasses and frames.

BOMBAY MILL INDUSTRY.

THE PRESENT POSITION.

The Bombay Mill industry, since we last wrote a few weeks ago, has not undergone much change, reports the Times of India. The feeling, if anything, is a little better, as large sales of yarn have been effected both locally as well as in the eastern market, and prices have improved about four dollars per bale in China. The present rates in the far eastern markets are 103 and 103 dollars for 20s and 10s yarns, respectively. These rates are considered far from remunerative inasmuch as they yield in Indian money about 57.16 and 49.16 annas only per pound respectively. The exchange is a shade better, the present rate being about Rs. 118 and Rs. 162 per 100 dollars and 100 taels respectively. The prices of cotton have gone up Rs. 8 per candy, which practically takes away the benefit derived from the higher dollar prices now ruling in China, and mills are still working at a loss. The intention on the part of some of the millowners of working short time and in some cases even of the entire stoppage of mills from the beginning of the year seems to have been abandoned, for the reason that the latter course involves a great deal of disorganisation and also a deterioration of the plant, to say nothing of the loss incurred in respect of the fixed charges such as insurance, interest on borrowed capital, and salaries of employees working under agreement. These charges vary in different mills in proportion to its financial position from five to ten thousand rupees per month.

The cloth mills, however, are quite differently situated. Some of the well-equipped weaving mills are clearing at least an anna a pound on plain cloth fancy cloths necessarily seeking a higher margin of profit. Looms are being ordered out in large numbers, and it is believed that the future extension of the textile trade will be in this direction. The imports of Lancashire and yarns come to about thirty crores of rupees per annum and there is no reason why a large share of this trade should not fall to Indian mills. As it is finer counts are being largely spun by local mills, with the result that this branch of Lancashire trade has appreciably suffered. Owing to the fall in silver, the prices realized in China for yarn barely cover the cost of manufacture. There is, in fact, a loss of a quarter or half an anna per pound, and it is not likely that silver will improve in the immediate future, particularly because the China indemnity question is still unsettled.

The mill owners consider it fortunate that at the present juncture the steamship companies carrying cotton from Bombay to Japan have reduced their rates of freight from Rs. 17 1/2 to Rs. 10 1/2 per ton. They hope that a similar concession will also be made in the case of yarn, shipped to the Far East. It must be remembered that when the steamship companies were charging the higher rate for cotton, they gave a rebate of Rs. 5 per ton to the Japan spinner, and the present reduction in the rate was practically, therefore, Rs. 2 1/2 per ton.

H. T., in writing to the Times of India on the above subject, says:—In your issue of the 11th instant you suggest various reasons for the present unsatisfactory condition of the spinning industry of Bombay. These various reasons, I have no doubt, do apply, in a measure, but you state that "it is to be regretted that owing to circumstances over which the Mill owners have no control," etc.

I for one, Sir, do not think for a moment this paragraph applies with any great force. I have been in charge of large mills in Lancashire and Yorkshire, and have studied the conditions under which they are worked. Each department vies with the other to produce the best possible article at the minimum of cost, and the whole is supervised by an intelligent head, either the owner, or a manager who brought up in business from boyhood, has a thorough grasp of every detail connected therewith. Such managers are seldom to be seen in India. They have no inducement to leave their mills and owners, where they are engaged, not for three years, but for a lifetime. Hence their interest and whole exertions are centred on the success of their particular firm.

You casually remark that "many of the ablest millowners, and mill agents, are of opinion that the common practice of employing incompetent manager and foreman on low salaries has much to do with the present unsatisfactory state of affairs." I have been in this country many years, and I have studied well the various causes tending, in any degree, to bear on the present depression. I am fully convinced the main cause of the depression is the rotten system under which the bulk of Indian Mills are carried on. The three-pie system is one that cannot possibly continue. The agents one after another have "voluntarily" given up their commission; but I believe in the majority of cases it was not a voluntary concession, but arose from the conviction that it was the only alternative to winding up or giving up their agencies.

The question of mill management is the next great cause of the depression. In 1897 when the plague was so bad, many of these three-pie mill agents quitted Bombay, but having competent European superintendents the work proceeded in a satisfactory manner. That is the year, in which these agents took steps to economise—not in the three-pie direction, but in the employment of unskilled managers, carders and spinners. Sons, sons-in-law and grandsons have now usurped the places of skilful Europeans. M. A.'s and B. A.'s have been transferred into full blown mill manager, and the shareholders have been filled into a belief that in putting on a relative there has been a saving of Rs. 400 per month in the management alone. How is it possible, in these circumstances, to expect satisfactory results? Very soon the agents or the poor shareholders will once more realise the necessity for proper supervision in lieu of the present inefficient management.

COTTAM &amp; CO., FOR SUN HATB.

RUSSIAN RAILWAY TO PEKING.

A somewhat startling piece of information, says an Indian exchange, comes from English traveller just returned from Mongolia, who states that a branch railway is under construction and fast approaching completion, from the Southern or Manchurian Section of the Siberian Railway, across the Eastern Gobi, to the Kalgan Gate, of the Great Wall. Of course, it has been known for a long time that the Siberian Railway had been brought down to Port Arthur and Dairen, in preference to its former terminus at Vladivostok, but it is quite a surprise to find that after all a still more direct and advantageous short cut to the capital of China has been discovered. The line which has been actually visited and inspected by the traveller referred to, pursues a uniformly south-westerly direction, and passes through the expansive plain east of the Khyang Range called Yu-ma-chung, or the Imperial Horse-pastures. This alignment has been evidently selected because of the flat and easy nature of the ground. It would seem that the project is especially arranged so as to fall within the four corner of the Anglo-Russian Railway agreement which gave Russia a fore-hand beyond the Great Wall of China. It will, of course, greatly strengthen Russia's grip of Northern China.

THE NEW EDUCATION IN CHINA.

A WONDERFUL MOVEMENT.

Of all the great events which have happened in our time, those men who are the best acquainted with China and the neighbouring nations agree that the greatest is the Renaissance of the Far East. But incomparably the greatest of far-reaching movements, says Mr. Timothy Richard in the Contemporary Review, is the change in the character of Chinese Education, and he proceeds to give some idea of this reformation, which at no distant day will, he says, react on everything in the world, for mind controls matter and right thought must precede right action, and the Chinese factor is bound to have a large place in the future problems of the world. In May, 1901, a missionary, whose advice the Chinese Plenipotentiaries had sought in the settlement which followed the Shansi massacres, suggested that the best settlement for Shansi would be the establishment of modern colleges for teaching universal knowledge, as it would remove the chief cause of antipathy to foreigners, namely, ignorance. This proposal the Chinese Government agreed to; and later on it decided to adopt the same principle for the whole empire. For example: An edict on Reform in Education, published by the Chinese Government on the 29th of August, 1901, commanded the abolition of essays or homilies on the Chinese classics, in examinations for literary degrees, and substituted for them essays and articles on modern matters, Western laws, and political economy. The same procedure was also to be observed in the future in the examination of candidates for office. By the same edict it was ordered that as the methods in use for gaining military degrees, namely, trials of strength with stone weights, agility with the great sword, and marksmanship with the bow and arrow on foot and on horseback—were not of the slightest value in turning out men for the army, where knowledge of strategy and military science were the sine qua non for military officers, these trials of strength, &c., should be thenceforth abolished for ever.

Another edict for the establishment of new universities, colleges and schools in China was published on the 12th of September, 1901. It commanded all existing colleges in the empire to be turned into schools and colleges of Western learning. Each provincial was to have a University like the Peking University, while the colleges in the prefectures and districts of the various provinces were to be schools and colleges of the second and third classes. Another edict, for sending students to be educated abroad, was published on the 17th of September, 1901. It commanded the Viceroy and Governors of other provinces of the Empire to follow the example of the Viceroy Liu Kun-yi of Szechuen, Chang Chih-tung of Hukwang, and Kwei Chun (Manchu) of Szechuen, in sending young men of scholastic promise and ability abroad to study any branch of Western science or art best suited to their abilities and tastes, so that they might in time return to China and place the fruits of their knowledge at the service of the empire.

Those who are acquainted with China know very well that many of the edicts of the Government do not amount to much more than waste paper. In this case, however, it has not been so. The Imperial College in Shansi has been opened, with some 300 students, in the hope that it will develop into one of the provincial Universities. It is divided into a Chinese and a Foreign department. All the candidates for admission must have the Chinese degree of B.A. After the students have completed their Chinese course they pass on to the Foreign Department. The Foreign Department has six foreign professors and six Chinese professors who hold diplomas of Western learning. Besides this there is a staff of six translators of university text-books into Chinese, superintended by a foreigner. The edicts have not been a dead letter in the other provinces either, though there has been enormous difficulty in getting a sufficient number of professors to teach, or of text-books to use. Some Chinamen who, under the old system of education, would not have got more than £30 per annum now get £240; and there are not enough of them. At the lowest estimate text-books and books of general knowledge of the West to the value of £25,000 must have been sold during this year alone. Books to the value of £6,000 were sold by the Society for the Diffusion of Christian Knowledge. He goes on to give an account of the triennial examinations held for the B.A. and

M.A. degrees. The examinations in all the 18 provinces are held simultaneously on the 8th and 9th September. In round numbers, some 10,000 students attend each of these examinations in the maritime and riverine provinces, which are the most populous, while the other provinces have from five to 8,000 each, making up a grand total of 150,000 students with a B.A. degree—a fact unique on the face of the earth.—Globe.

RIGAUD'S White Violet EXTRACT

This fugitive and delicate perfume is persistent as an Extract for the handkerchief while as a soap and powder, it is the most perfect of all perfumes.

Those who are acquainted with China know very well that many of the edicts of the Government do not amount to much more than waste paper. In this case, however, it has not been so. The Imperial College in Shansi has been opened, with some 300 students, in the hope that it will develop into one of the provincial Universities. It is divided into a Chinese and a Foreign department. All the candidates for admission must have the Chinese degree of B.A. After the students have completed their Chinese course they pass on to the Foreign Department. The Foreign Department has six foreign professors and six Chinese professors who hold diplomas of Western learning. Besides this there is a staff of six translators of university text-books into Chinese, superintended by a foreigner. The edicts have not been a dead letter in the other provinces either, though there has been enormous difficulty in getting a sufficient number of professors to teach, or of text-books to use. Some Chinamen who, under the old system of education, would not have got more than £30 per annum now get £240; and there are not enough of them. ## THEY WILL REMAIN.

The bump of reverence is overshadowed by the bump of intelligence in the 20th century man and woman. Old things are not preserved simply because they are old. Whatsoever is no longer useful must get out of the way. Nevertheless, progress that is not intelligent will not be permanent. We shall continue to breathe air, drink water and eat bread. There will be no "improvement" on the great essentials of living, and we do not want any. Babies will come into the world as they have from the beginning, and people will die out of it as they have done since the world began. Let us not run away with the idea that all of our treasured opinions are to be upset. Through every change, all things which, like

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION have built a reputation on honour and good service, will hold their place. This effective remedy belongs to the past, the present and the future. It is not only up-to-date but ahead of date. For Wasting Diseases, Impaired Nutrition, Influenza, Lung Trouble, Impure Humors in the blood with resulting skin affections, etc., it possesses the confidence of physicians and the people everywhere. It is not expected to fail; it never does fail. The formula after which it is made is an inspiration. It contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It is palatable as honey, and yet so medicinal as to be effective from the first dose. Professor Reddy, of Canada, says: "I have much pleasure in stating that I have used it in cases of debility and have found it to be a very valuable remedy as well as pleasing to take." To trust it and try it is to be satisfied and thankful. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists here and everywhere throughout the world and A. S. Watson Co., Limited.

This successful and highly popular remedy, used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Volp and others, combines all the elements to be sought in a medicine of the kind, and surpasses everything hitherto employed.

THERAPION No. 1 is a remarkably short time, often a few days only, removes all discharges from the urinary organs, effectively superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases. ## SHOOTING.

HONGKONG VERSUS SHANGHAI.

Yesterday afternoon, at the Hongkong Gun Club, a friendly match was arranged between representatives of the above named places. The conditions were, three aside, twenty birds each, from scratch. This Colony was represented by His Excellency the Governor, His Honour Judge "Ise," and Major the Hon. H. W. Trefusis.
The Shanghai men who "took the line" were Messrs. Moller, Craig, and Jackson. After a close and exciting contest, during which good shooting was witnessed on both sides, Hongkong won by one bird. A number of Shanghai ladies and gentlemen, as well as some local sportsmen, were on the Club ground during the contest.

SPORT IN THE NEW TERRITORY.

A correspondent informs us that very few sportsmen have visited the New Territory this year, although plenty of pigeons, quails and wild ducks are to be had, the former flying about in flocks of 20 and 30, while quails appear very tame. Partridges and pheasants seem scarce. One Hongkong sport had very poor luck during a three days' trip in the district.
He succeeded in bagging one pigeon and an old China woman cutting grass, the latter costing him a couple of Mexican. One party, however, got a fair amount of sport, and would probably have secured better bags had not their boat run on an oyster bed in Deep Bay, which detained them a considerable time.ASK FOR ASAHI JAPANESE BEER—

HALF-YEARLY MEETING.

The ordinary half-yearly meeting of shareholders in the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation was held at the City Hall at noon to-day, the Hon. R. Shewan presiding.
There were also present:—Hon. C. W. Dixon, Messrs. A. J. Raymond, E. Goetz, G. H. Med-hurst, C. Michelau, D. M. Moses, H. Schubart, N. A. Siebs, (Directors), J. R. M. Smith (Chief Manager), Hon. C. S. Sharp, Messrs. W. H.
Potts, J. R. Michael, H. E. D. Hunter, J. P.
Peter, C. W. May, R. F. Wright, E. George, C. J. Gonsalves, J. Y. Vernon, S. Hancock, P. A. Barlow, J. M. Gomes, J. A. Chinor, Lau Wae Chuen, H. W. Fraser, A. Sharp, D.
Haskell, A. G. Wood, P. C. Potts, J. M. Alves-Kinsai, G. Pearson, T. G. Goward, E. A.
Hewitt, C. N. Tomes, F. B. Marshall, J.
Orange, R. K. Leigh, R. C. Wilcox, W.
Lysaght, G. de Champeaux, H. Nemazeu, H. Wickham, E. S. Joseph, G. Stewart, D. D.
Gozlar, J. Neumann and others.The report and statement of accounts have already been published in our columns and, in moving their adoption.The Chairman said:—Gentlemen, I congratulate you on the fine position which the report I have just read shows the Bank to be in, and on the results of the last six months' work, which allow of the usual dividend of 10/- and a bonus of 10/- per share, and also of $750,000 being added to the Reserve fund. At our last meeting, in August, I pointed out that, at the then rate of exchange of 1/8, it took about $100,000 more to pay the same dividend than it did six months previously, and to do so now, at the present rate of 1/7, requires $100,000 further, besides a relative increase of dollars to pay the 10/- bonus. In other words, we are now paying in dividend and bonus $2,031,952.64 against $1,725,424.70 this time last year, or say 31 cents of dollar's more; while at the same time our position is now stronger than it ever has been before (applause). The uncertainty of the silver in market has made exchange operations a matter of much difficulty and no little anxiety. It has been a busy time for all concerned, and to show our appreciation of the manner in which the matter has been faced by our Managers, Agents, and staff generally, we have had pleasure in voting them a bonus on their salaries of 10%, which I am convinced will meet with your approval (applause). Comparing the present report with that of 30th June you will observe an increase in deposits of about $50,000,000 chiefly in gold accounts, and same has enabled us to reduce our liabilities under the heading of Bills Payable, which are some fourteen million dollars less; on the other side Bills Due, Loans and Credits are ten million dollars higher, and Bills Receivable have increased $8,000,000. There is no marked change in any of the other items calling for comparison. During the past half year we effected a sale in London, in conjunction with Messrs. Baring Bros & Co., Limited, of Imperial Japanese Government Bonds which met with much success, and I am glad to say the result was mutually gratifying to the Japanese Government and to ourselves. The import trade has been dull here, but in the North there are evidences that at the opening of the river a good demand will spring up for piece goods from Europe and America. The Chinese have again proved their capabilities as business men, and have mostly settled sterling exchange at the time they ordered their goods, thus insuring themselves against loss on a falling silver market. The commercial treaty made on behalf of the British Government by Sir James Mackay has been signed, but will not become fully operative until the other Powers concede have also formulated the text of their treaties with the Chinese Empire on similar lines. As I said six months ago, it is a bold attempt to remedy many grievances. Article eight with its abolition of lekin and imposition of a surtax is the one that blocks the way, but if the Chinese Government will see that all the conditions are faithfully carried out, the new treaty on the lines laid down, should greatly facilitate trade and also prove beneficial to the country generally. One of the clauses of the new treaty is that China shall establish a National coinage that will be legal tender over the whole Empire. Gentlemen it is an accomplished task, in my opinion, great help and assistance, but it must elapse before such radical change takes place. From the way in which events are marching, however, it appears certain that some steps must be taken to deal with the currency question in China.
Siam has already declared for gold. The Straits Settlements and other places around us are using the adoption of a gold standard, and in this Colony also there are many whose opinion trends in the same direction. Personally, I should be glad to see such a thing accomplished, but until China makes the change on her own behalf, it would, in my opinion, be prejudicial to our trade here to divorce ourselves from the coin in currency in use in that great Empire (applause). The Anglo-Japanese Treaty which has been signed, is a measure for the common benefit and protection of our several interests. It should make for peace and promote commerce, and as such deserves, and has, our cordial approval. As regard Hongkong and the South of China generally, business is, as you know, dull at the moment, but I think it rests on a sound and safe basis. Many changes have come over the situation—for instance tea, in which formerly fortunes were made, has almost entirely left us, but on the other hand a variety of exports has arisen which our predecessors hardly ever thought of, and which promise to increase from year to year. Railways in China are now being constructed, and will soon be an accomplished fact, and with the opening up of the interior of one of the greatest countries in the world.must and will, come large opportunities, increased business, and, I do not doubt, increasing prosperity to your Bank. (applause).
Before moving the adoption of the report and accounts, I would be pleased to answer any questions which you may have to put to me. (A pause). As there appears to be no questions, I now beg to move that the report and accounts as presented be adopted and passed. Will somebody kindly second that?
Mr. A. G. Wood:—Mr. Chairman, I have much pleasure in seconding the adoption of the report and accounts just placed before us, and I am sure they cannot fail to be satisfactory to the shareholders. It is also a pleasurable duty to recognise the ability on the part of the management and staff which has helped to achieve such a good result. I think we are all pleased to learn that this is being recognised in the bonus we are asked to vote for the staff.The motion was carried.
DIRECTORS.
On the proposition of Mr. J. Orange, seconded by Mr. S. Hancock, the confirmation of the appointments of Mr. C.
Michelau and Mr. G. Haddock, in place of Messrs. A. Haupt and H. W. Slade resigned, was confirmed, and Messrs. N. A. Siebs, H. E.
Tomkins and H. Schubart were re-elected directors.AUDITORS.
Mr. G. Stewart proposed, Mr. J. Neumann seconded, and it was resolved, that the Hon. C.
S. Sharp and Mr. W. H. Potts be re-elected auditors.The Chairman said:—That concludes the business of the meeting. I am much obliged to you for your attendance. Dividend warrants will be ready on Monday.Mr. G. de Champeaux:—I have much pleasure in proposing a vote of thanks to the Chairman (applause).THE CANTON RIVER COLLISION CASE.

JUDGMENT.

It will be remembered, Chu Leung sued the s.s. Hoiho for damages in respect of the collision which occurred between the Hoiho and the stern-wheel paddle junk Ho Li on 7th March, 1902, in the Canton River, and about 30 per cent we were drowned.The case was heard on the 5th, 6th, and 7th inst. when Mr. E. H. Sharp, K.C. (instructed by Mr. P. get Heit of Messrs. Mounsey and Brutton) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. M.
W. Wade (instructed by Mr. C. E. H. Beavis of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist) for the defendant.His Lordship delivered judgment yesterday, and the brief result appeared in our columns last evening. He said:—This case was heard on the 5th, 6th and 7th of February, 1903. On the morning of the 7th March, 1902, about 5.20 or 5.25 a.m. a collision occurred near the western extremity of Sepoy Island in the Tai Mei branch of the Canton River, between the stern-wheel paddle junk Ho Li and the steamship Hoiho. At the time of collision the junk had a cargo on board worth, as alleged by the plaintiff, some $16,000 or $17,000, and a large number of passengers. The collision does not appear to have been a violent one, but it caused the junk to go over right on to its side with the sail in the water, and, although the Hoiho, after the collision, stayed and rescued many of the passengers, unfortunately many lives were lost as well as the cargo and the junk. Much of the loss of life is owing to the fact that many Chinese passengers were locked up in the cabin as a precaution against piracy. In these circumstances the plaintiff sues for damages, alleging the collision to have been caused solely by the negligence of those navigating the steamer. It appears that the junk was propelled by three rows of coolies who, facing the stern, held on to bars and caused the paddles to revolve by stepping on treadles connected with machinery moving the wheel. The junk, which plies between Sainam and Canton, had left Sainam the previous day, and, soon after 5 a.m., on the morning of the 7th March, 1902, passed the Tai Mei light, taking a course between the light and land and having the light on the starboard side. Then after rounding the point of land she proceeded in a direction somewhat north of north-west, having Sepoy Island on the starboard side and making towards the northern bank of the Tai Mei branch of the river, which leads to Canton.
The Hoiho, a steamer of some 600 tons of which George Augustus Paxton was the master, left Hongkong for Canton on 6th March. About 11.15 p.m. she anchored off Taipa, leaving again about 3.30 a.m. on the 7th. After passing the Tai Shek barrier she slowed her engines to half-speed. The tide was running down about two knots an hour or a little more, and after slowing down she was going somewhere about four knots an hour over the ground. She also passed the Tai Mei light but on the outside, that is to say, having the light on her port side, and then headed what may roughly be called a north-westerly direction, to pass Sepoy Island on her way to Canton. It is obvious that the courses taken by the junk and the steamer would bring them close together. The junk was making about two knots an hour over the ground and the steamer was going about twice as fast or a little more. There was very little wind; what there was seems to have been north-east, and the junk's sail was not of much use in accelerating her progress, though it was fully up.
The case was some conflict of evidence as to whether dawn had begun. It is clear, however, from the evidence put in from the Hongkong Observatory, that the sun rose on the morning of 7th March, 1902, at 6.17; and, after carefully considering the evidence, I find as a fact that the collision occurred not later than 5.25 and that it was quite dark at the time. It was alleged in the part of the junk that she had a round lantern at the masthead, similar to the one produced in Court, and that the twosquare lanterns hung up to light the coolies who worked the treadles, although no navigation lights, were yet so suspended under the open arched roof covering the coolies in front of the steersman (who stood on a small raised deck near the stern) as to act as stern lights. It was also alleged that up to, and at the time of, the collision the masthead lantern and the other two mentioned were alight. In view, however, of the evidence of Paxton (the master), Ho Po (the pilot), Chau Kiu (the lookout man) and Lai 'h-tung (the man at the wheel), on board the steamer, I am of opinion that there was no proper masthead light alight at the time in question, and I am further of opinion that the lanterns that lighted the coolies at work were not of any material use as navigation lights. I hold therefore that, as regards lights, the absence of such proper lights as any reasonably careful junk-master should have exhibited materially contributed to the collision. After considering the evidence given on both sides it seems clear that the steamer had her regulation lights and was seen by the junk people at least a mile away. The evidence for the plaintiff was that the steamer's red, green and white lights were clearly seen, and were seen all the time, and came near and nearer. In the circumstances it seems strange that the junk people did not show a lantern or a flag or light. Possibly it may not be the custom to do so on the Canton River but where, as I have found to be the case here, a junk is quite insufficiently lighted, so that it is difficult to see it in the dark till one is very near, common sense would suggest the propriety of attracting the attention of an oncoming steamer whose three lights continued to be visible from the junk till the collision. It is neglecting reasonable precautions to wait till the steamer is close up and then to merely shout out. In this case, moreover, it seems the shouts were not heard.
It is to be regretted that the steersman of the junk was drowned, so that his evidence is not available. I pass now to the action of the steamer. In the defendant's preliminary act it is stated that the junk was first seen from the Hoiho when it was about 200 feet away, on the port bow. It appears that after passing the Tai Shek barrier, Paxton, the master, left the bridge, which was about 20 or 25 feet from the bow, leaving the chief officer, Duncan Bowie, in charge, with the pilot Ho Wo, who had known the river for over six years.
Lai Ah-tung was at the wheel and Chau Kiu was look-out man. All three were on the bridge from which the vessel is steered, and all, except the chief officer—who died, I think, last November—were called as witnesses. The evidence of the pilot is very material. In examination-in-chief in Court he said:—"We passed the Tai Mei light and after going a little way I saw a shadow on the port bow. It was reported by the look-out man who said in Chinese, 'There is a shadow in front! look out!' I repeated it to the chief officer in English, 'Cross bow, have got something ahead.' I was standing on the port side and the chief officer, on the starboard side of the bridge.
We were only a few feet apart. I was by the side of the helmsman. The chief officer looked carefully. The shadow came nearer and the chief officer blew the whistle a long blast. Then he telegraphed down to stop the engines and then to go astern. We first made out it was a junk when I saw the sail. Then the telegraph was set full speed astern. When we made out she was a junk she was 40 or 50 yards off. We could see no lights. I could make out which was the bow and which the stern." He then with models showed the relative positions of the junk and steamer, putting the junk on a course which would take her across the bow of the steamer almost at right angles. He continued as follows:—"The junk went on and the steamer stopped. We never changed our course at all. I cannot say whether the junk did. There was not water enough for us to have gone to starboard of the junk and we had not time either. We called out to them not to cross our bows. We got no answer and did not hear them shout. When the collision happened we were going forward very slowly and the engines were going full speed astern." In cross-examination he said, "When we came in contact the junk turned over on her side and we went on just past her and dropped anchor. With regard to what occurred before the collision for two three or four minutes, the shadow drew nearer and nearer and then we stopped. In two minutes more I saw the sail and reversed. The shadow was something on the river. We could not have passed between the junk and Sepoy Island. There was not enough water. The shadow was on our left when we first saw it and on the left of the river. We had passed the Tai Mei light 20 or 30 yards (say 20 yards) when we first saw the shadow or dark object. At the time of the collision it was dark. The chief officer did the telegraphing. I did the whistle at his request." Now, taking this evidence as approximately correct (though I think he placed the junk's course at too large an angle with that of the steamer) the shadow or dark object on the river was seen by about six minutes before the collision. Now, from a point about 80 yards past the light to the point where the collision occurred the distance was about 60 yards. A steamer going four knots an hour would cover that distance in about four minutes and a half; and, assuming, that her engines were stopped for the last two minutes and finally reversed so that she was almost stationary at the moment of collision, six minutes might well be a rough estimate of the time she would take to traverse the 60 yards.
It is clear that the steamer's stern struck the junk either on her starboard quarter or more probably on her starboard side, quite close to the stern. This impact, coupled with the action of the tide, was quite sufficient to turn her over on to her port side, although the steamer was not damaged in any way. It seems also clear that if those navigating the steamer had stopped her engines immediately the warn-ing "Cross bow, have got something ahead" was given, or had starboarded, the helm as soon as the junk was seen, the collision might have been averted. It is stated in evidence that the breadth of the light was about 13 feet. The steamer was a steaming vessel and going through the water quite twice as fast as the junk; prima facie it was her duty to keep out of the way. The engines were not reversed till the pilot saw the sail and made out it was a junk, and that, according to his evidence, was when the junk was forty or fifty yards off.
Yet those navigating the steamer had had the notice, "Cross bow, have got something ahead" some five minutes before reversing, and there was plenty of time, going as the steamer was against a two-knot tide, to have completely stopped her before the collision, for the "something ahead" must clearly have been a craft of some kind.
My nautical assessor is of opinion that those responsible for the navigation of the steamer were to blame as well as the junk, and I am therefore compelled to hold that both parties are to blame for the collision. Mr. Sharp called my attention to the case of The Englishman— (reported in 3 Probate Division), where Sir Report Phillimore decided that where the schooner The Englishman ran down a French trawler which had not proper side-lights, she alone was liable for the damage caused. But in that case it was held that there was no look-out on the schooner and that, therefore, the absence of regulation side-lights on the trawler did not contribute to the collision. The judge expressly held "that the side-lights of the The Englishman (the trawler) would have been unseen as much as the mast-head light," because there was no look-out.
Moreover, in that case the trawler "had a white light visible a mile distant at least, and had a flare-up shown, but neither white light nor flare-up was seen." In the present case the absence of proper lights did very materially contribute to the collision. Accordingly, I hold both parties to blame, and the result is the plaintiff will recover half the damages which he can prove to have been caused by the collision, the account to be taken in the usual way.
Each party must bear its own costs. It may be well to add that this action was brought before the new Ordinance, No. 39 of 1902, with reference to collisions between junks and ships, came into force, so that it is not necessary in this case to discuss its provisions.

S.S. "BINH THUAN" ASHORE.

FURTHER DETAILS.

As briefly reported in our issue last evening, the French steamer, Binh Thuan, left hence for Saigon on the 7th inst. with a general cargo, and some $50,000, belonging to the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank. On the passage down she ran upon the North end of Cape Varella where she now lies. Cape Varella, though time enough at times, is a nasty, treacherous piece of coast during the north-east monsoon.
The Binh Thuan is owned by the "Compagnie de Navigation de Cadeage des Mers du Chine," and is a steel screw steamer of some 1,750 gross tons. She was built by Messrs. N.
Ode & Co., Genoa last year. The firm to which she belongs was recently incorporated at Marseilles with a capital of 500,000 franks, allotted into 120 shares of $5,000 each. Since the incorporation we hear that the capital has been increased. The Company's other vessels are the Quang Nam, and Pho Yen. It will be remembered that recently the Quang Nam, while on a voyage to Hongkong, ran short of coal and, at sea, transferred many of her passengers to another steamer. On the Binh Thuan's maiden voyage to China last year, in Singapore harbour the steamer's gig capsized and the Captain was drowned.HINT TO "RUGGER" MEN AND REFEREES.Captain Phillip Trevor, the well-known sporting writer, in his book on Rugby Football, has the following under the head of "Fell-back," dealing with the observance of Rule 11:—"Drop on it he must in order to stop a rush, even though his head and shoulders pay a price for his pluck. But remain upon it he must not. Only last season I saw a particularly penetrative and capable referee administer in drastic but just manner the laws of football in regard to this habit. Some half dozen forwards broke away, the defending three-quarter line (caught napping) were eluded, and only the fullback stood between them and the goal line.
Fluckily he threw himself on the ball, but with great judgment not a forward laid a hand upon him. There, however, he lay, with the ball cuddled up beneath him, hoping for help to arrive. In vain his opponents adjured him to get up and put the ball in play. At last he began to show signs of rising; but ere he rose, the referee's whistle blew, and a penalty kick was awarded, from which a goal resulted." This incident, which takes two or three minutes to relate, did not occupy perhaps as many seconds in actuality, but was quite clear that the full-back was flagrantly transgressing the letter of the law, and even more flagrantly transgressing its spirit. And he was justly punished accordingly.

Clerical.

The Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Winchester has been enthroned at Canterbury as Archbishop and Primate of All England.

[Dr. Randall Davidson, who was born in Edinburgh in 1848, is the son of Mr. Henry Davidson of that city. He was educated at Harrow under the present Master of Trinity. He was treated in his youth with much kindness by Archbishop Tait, who had been at school with his father, and in 1877 the Archbishop chose him as his domestic chaplain. In this capacity he received a thorough training in the duties of an Archdeacon, for Dr. Tait was an exacting chief. After the Archbishop's death in 1882, Randall Davidson remained for a time as chaplain to his successor, Dr. Benson. He had married, in 1878, Miss Edith Tait, and Addington has sacred associations for both of them. In 1883 Dr. Wellesley, Dean of Windsor, who had been the late Queen's trusted adviser, died, and her Majesty appointed Randall Davidson his successor. It was no easy task which he undertook, but he fulfilled it so admirably to her Majesty's satisfaction that on the translation of Dr. Tait to Winchester Dr. Davidson was appointed Bishop of Winchester. On Dr. Thomson's death in 1895 he succeeded him, and in the important confidential friend and adviser of the late Queen at the time of her death. He afterwards took a leading part in the arrangements for King Edward's coronation. As Clerk of the Closet he was brought into intimate relations with the King, and as Bishop of Winchester he was also Prelate of the Order of the Garter, whose broad blue ribbon distinguished him from his episcopal peers on the benches of the Upper Chamber.—Ed., H. ## THE RACES.

OFF DAY.

There was some fair sport at the Happy Valley this afternoon when the Hongkong Race Meeting of 1903 was brought to a close. The weather was not so favourable as on the first three days of the meeting, and doubtless accounted for the falling off in the number of spectators. There were seven interesting events on the card for decision, and up to the time of going to press, the following results had been received:

THE COSMOPOLITAN TAKES.—A sweepstakes of $10 each with $500 added. Second to receive $500; and third $50. For all waters entered at and which have run at this meeting. Weight for inches as per scale. Winners of any race except the Encouragement, Racing or Phœnix Stakes to lbs. extra. Winners of Encouragement, Racing or Phœnix Stakes 5 lbs. extra. Penalties accumulative. Hongkong water griffins allowed 8 lbs. Hongkong waters which have never won a race at time of starting allowed 5 lbs. Unplaced runners at the meeting allowed 5 lbs. Winners of the Hongkong Derby and/or Water Champion stakes barred. From the two-mile post once round and in.

Mr. Godfrey Master's Mayfly, 11st. 8lbs. ....

COTTAM & CO., FOR WASHING BOW TIES.

and, on the straight got the lead which she maintained to the finish, with Punch second and Squash a bad third.

Time 2 min. 04 seconds.

THE KING CUP. Presented. For all beaten China ponies; weight for inches as per scale. Old ponies to carry 7 lbs. extra. Subscription griffin waters allowed 3 lbs. Unplaced ponies allowed 5 lbs. Three quarters of a mile. Entrance, $10; to go to second pony.

Mr. Rutherford 0

Mr. Houston's Nicodemus, 11st. 11lbs. ....

There was some considerable time starting these ponies, but having eventually got away Silver Fox took the lead, with Commoner second, followed by Joker. Going up the Black Rock Joker forged ahead and gained second place, with Commoner third. On the straight however, Silver Fox passed Commoner with Joker still leading.

THE CHEEK SAI CUP. Value $500. Presented. For all beaten water griffins. Weight for inches as per scale. Placed ponies to carry 5 lbs. Unplaced ponies allowed 5 lbs. Entrance, $10; to go to second pony. Five furlongs.

Mr. Mackie 0

A very poor start, Mr. Buxey's Winning Rose leading all the way. On passing the Black Rock he was about five lengths ahead, Lady Lena and Prince Charming second and third respectively. Coming in the straight, Lady Lena challenged Prince Charming, and at the winning post beat him by a length.

THE RACING INCIDENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG TELEGRAPH." Sir,—The official races over, I take it for granted that your columns are open to comment on the alleged foul in the contest for the German Cup, respecting which your remarks on 11th instant were as pertinent as they were justifiable, and doubtless gratifying to those who backed Commoner and to others who witnessed the collision and would have marvelled greatly had not Mr. Hart Buck lodged a protest with the Stewards against the riding of Jigoku. That Mr. Crighton's mount (Jigoku) got in the way of the game little Commoner in the middle of the straight had no one who was watching the event could have any doubt. The all-important question left for settlement by the Stewards was, therefore—Did Mr. Crighton wilfully and with intent to prevent Commoner from overhauling him in the final rush past the Grand Stand deliberately alter the course of Jigoku so as to cut off Commoner, i.e., did he intentionally take Commoner's ground? It certainly looked as if Mr. Crighton, who had disposed of Muscatel and found Commoner coming with a wet sail and gamely responding to Mr. Willemer's "call," endeavoured to get in front of Commoner; for between the three ponies named (which were leading the field) there was considerable space, and yet all of a sudden Jigoku was seen to go out of his course and come close up to Commoner (who was obviously full of running), whereupon Willemer's mount had to sheer off towards the ditch while going at top speed—a manoeuvre fraught with danger to both rider and horse—to avoid collision and endeavour to get past Jigoku. The effort was unsuccessful, and the pair finished the race in very close company (with Muscatel a good third), but in a manner which caused great annoyance and indignation among the majority of the onlookers, who were—and doubtless always will be—of opinion that (a) the best pony did not win; and (b) that were these two ponies matched over the same course under exactly similar conditions as in the German Cup race Commoner would defeat Jigoku.

You say "the gods have spoken" and we must abide by their ruling." That is so to a certain extent, but it is open to anyone to refer the matter to the Editor of some first-class sporting journal and, in due course, "pass round" the opinion so obtained, or forward it to some local journal of Sport and Gossip for publication pro bono publico, and with a view to definitely settling a question which is bound to be an "open sore" for some time to come with the backers of Commoner, to many others who had only a few Mexicans on him for a place, and to others who had no pecuniary interest in him.

"The gods have spoken." Just so, but the majority of the Stewards will not deny that "error is human," that vox populi, vox Dei holds good, and that none of us poor mortals can claim to be infallible.

"The gods have spoken" and Mr. Hart Buck, while losing the German Cup, as the result of the Stewards' verdict, has in consequence gained considerably in popularity and public esteem. He has no doubt the heartiest sympathy and fullest confidence of a very large proportion of the general public present at Wednesday's races, who know full well that such thorough sportsmen as the veteran and successful flat-racer and daring "timber-topper," and Mr. Willemer would never have troubled the Stewards with a protest unless they felt that the circumstances fully warranted the adoption of such a serious course.

There is, of course, always "another side" of questions at issue, and it will indeed be regrettable if the public is not favoured with some enlightenment from those who share the opinion of the five gentlemen who voted against Mr. Hart Buck. Of course, Mr. Crighton couldn't see behind himself unless he turned his head to "look see," but could he not have managed to keep his mount straight on his own ground throughout the final struggle for victory? That is what many spectators would be glad to know.

If the Stewards would communicate to the Press their main reasons for overruling the protest, they would thereby take a step which would at least tend to show that the public is not such an "unconsidered trifle" as is generally supposed.

It might be an advantage were arrangements made in future to have about half-a-dozen instantaneous photos taken of the fields while the competitors are approaching the Judge's box after turning into and coming down the straight at top speed.—Yours faithfully, PLEBS.

FORTNIGHTLY MARKET REPORT.

Cotton.—We had a very dull fortnight, and no sales were effected. The unsold stock is estimated at about 2,500 bales.

Yarn.—Moderate arrivals, strong market at Bombay, and meagre stock in first hands induced operators to purchase freely, and a good lot, say about 7,500 bales, changed hands at last mail's quotations. The unsold stock is about 9,000 bales.

Malaya Opium.—Ruled steady, and old about 132 chests were sold at $1,020 to $1,130 per picul. The unsold stock is about 670 chests.

YARN MARKET REPORT.

In their fortnightly yarn market report, dated Hongkong, 13th instant, Messrs. Caswajee, Paltanjee & Co. state:—Since the issue of our last official dated the 30th ultimo, our Yarn Market has ruled steady, and prices show a little or no improvement on last mail's quotations, and a good deal of settlements were put through both for spot and cargo to arrive. Satisfactory news from the interior induced the speculators to operate freely, and have added early to their former purchases. Sales during the fortnight comprise about 75 bales of No. 65, 4,160 bales of No. 108, and 1,845 bales of No. 125, in all about 7,500 bales.
